20.10.2018: European Statistics Day

To celebrate European Statistics Day, Statistics Portugal:

- Disseminates the updated Portuguese version of the digital publication "A vida das mulheres e dos homens na Europa" (The life of women and men in Europe), first issued for European Statistics Day in 2017, which helps better understand the diversity and characteristics of the life of Europeans.
- Publishes a new Press Release on construction and housing statistics under the theme "Acquisition of real estate by non-residents".
- Launches the second edition of the European Statistics Competition that will happen across 15 of the EU Member States simultaneously.

This is a competition for schools, in which young students compete against each other by solving statistical problems, searching for data and producing statistical analyses.

ESC aims to promote statistical literacy among secondary school students (approx. 14-18 years old), to encourage teachers to use new teaching materials based on official statistics and to encourage teamwork in order to achieve common objectives.
