

19 February, 2008

AGRICULTURAL FORECASTS JANUARY 2008

WHEAT SURFACE SHOOTS UP 45%

On 31 January, early estimates point to an improvement of the grain cereals surface, although not coming up to the expectations caused by the high price of cereals in the market. The meteorological conditions promote the rooting and the development of winter grain crops. The production of olives for oil plunged 35%.
