

28 June, 2012

Economic Accounts for Forestry
2010

Gross Value Added for Forestry increased 6.7% in real terms and 6.6% in nominal terms in 2010

In 2010, according to the Economic Accounts for Forestry, Gross Value Added on Forestry increased 6.7% in real terms and 6.6% in nominal terms. These results were a consequence of an increase of 5.7% on production in volume and 0.3% in prices.
