

27 June, 2013

Economic Accounts for Forestry

2011

Gross Value Added for Forestry increased 2.9% in real terms and 5.8% in nominal terms

According to the Economic Accounts for Forestry in 2011, Gross Value Added for Forestry increased for the second consecutive year, attaining a change rate of 2.9% in real terms and 5.8% in nominal terms. This result was determined by an increase in production (2.8%) and a decrease in intermediate consumption (-4.8%), in nominal terms.
