PRESENTATION NOTE

In this press release, INE begins the publication of new series of Industrial Production Prices Index, with base year 2021=100, presenting retrospective values since January 2005. These new series replace the previous ones, which had 2015 as the base year. In this base change process, mandatory according to the respective European Union regulations, the basket of products and the sample of companies were updated, as well as the update of the weighting structure, based in 2021 data, aiming at improving the statistical representativeness of the indices.
