

Born in 1948, in Lisbon, Alda de Caetano Carvalho graduated in Economics from the Technical University of Lisbon in 1972, with post-graduation education in Prevision and Linear Programming; Microeconomics; Evaluations of Projects; Commodities Trade; Medium Term Models; Financial Programming and Policy; International Finance and Internationalisation of Financial Markets.

She worked as Economist at the Planning Department of the Prime Minister Cabinet (1972); at Directorate-General of Planning and Economic Coordination of Mozambique (1973/74); and at Directorate-General of Trade (1975/82); as Senior Economist at Central Planning Department (1982/83); as Economic adviser and Chief of Cabinet of the Secretary of State of Planning (1984/85); as Senior Economist, Director, General Director Deputy and General Director at Prospective and Planning Department (1986/2005); as Consultant of World Bank in Cape Vert (1994). Alda de Caetano Carvalho was appointed President of Statistics Portugal in November 2005.

Alda de Caetano Carvalho
President of Statistics Portugal